A small village in beautiful Berkshire, Sindlesham sits north west of the historic town of Wokingham, now revered as one of the most popular places to live in England, and south east of Reading, the capital town of the county. Easy access to the M4 motorway yet so close to the serenity of acres of untouched countryside makes Sindlesham a most desirable place to set up home.

SINDLESHAM

You'd possibly imagine that this small village wouldn't have much to offer. You'll soon discover however there is plenty within easy reach. Nirvana Health Spa and Pulse 8 provide plenty to do, be it to work out or relax. And there's a great choice of golf clubs in the local vicinity, both public and private. Dinton Pastures and the Coombes provide mile upon mile of beautiful countryside to ramble with a stop off at the Walter's Arms for a pie and a pint before heading home.

For shopping and entertainment, Reading offers the fabulous Oracle Centre with many fashion shops and department stores, multiplex cinemas, restaurants and bars. More locally the medieval historic market town of Wokingham plays host to exclusive designer shops, cosmopolitan restaurants, traditional pubs and buzzing bars. For the commuter, the M4 is accessible via the A329M and nearby Winnersh station provides train links direct to London Waterloo station and to London Paddington via Reading.
